

Homework

“When pigs fly “

The phrase “When pigs fly” refers to something that is highly unlikely to ever happen.

Example of use: “I might wake up early tomorrow to go my work”,

Yes, you’ll do that when pigs fly

1-Question:

-Can you tell me, The way to the Greek restaurant?

-Yes, you go straight on here, and turn right at the traffic lights, you will be on liver street, will go to an end, and you will see traffic light again, before the traffic light you will turn light onto duke street, and you will go 500m forward and you will see the Greek restaurant on the right cornet after York Street.

2-Question:

-Please, can you tell me if there is pharmacy near here?

- yes, there is a pharmacy near here, you go straight on here, and turn right at the traffic lights, You will be on liver street, and you will go straight again and, in the corner, you will turn right ,200metres later you will find the pharmacy on the right.

3-Question:

-Can you tell me how I can go to Liverpool James Street station?

-Yes, you go straight on here, you will not go right or left, you will pass three traffic lights, when you see the third traffic light, you will turn right, you will find it in the second building on the left.

4-Question:

-Can you tell me, the wat to Tate Liverpool?

-of course,

You will go straight on here, and turn left at the traffic lights, and you will go straight again, in the second corner you will turn right, and you will go 300m forward and you will see Tate Liverpool on the right.

The End